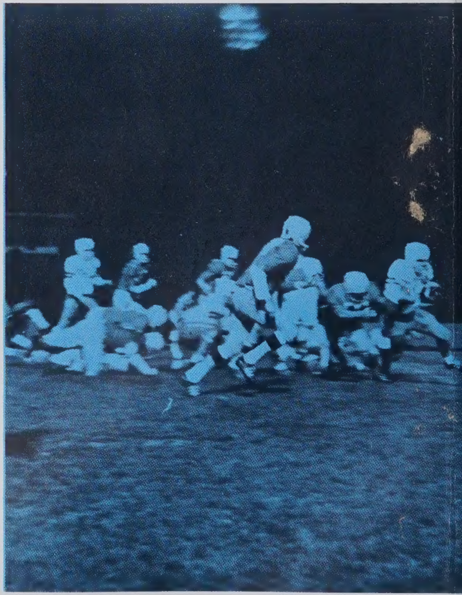
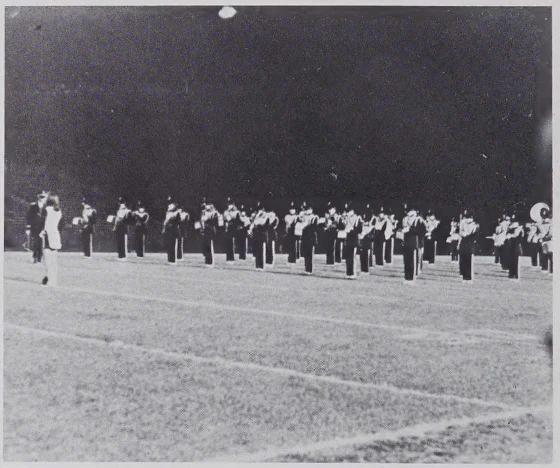
“To Every Thing There is a Season and a Time . . .”

“To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose . . .” (Ecclesiastes 3:1-8). The students at Watauga High School recognized this fact during the school year 1969-1970. After completing five years as an institution, Watauga was indeed one school; and all of its students worked together. As a group or as individuals, they came for football games and homecoming festivities, for working and studying, and for loving and hating.

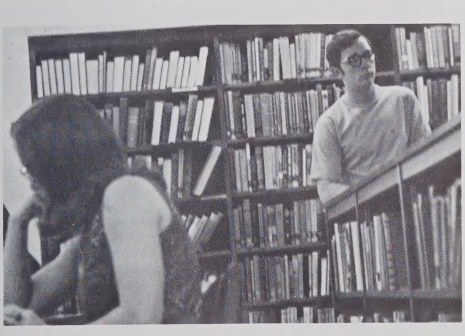


SCHOOLS



". . . and a Time to Build Up . . ."

This was a year for building up. Autumn saw the opening of the new vocational wing of the school. The curriculum at Watauga also grew as three new courses were begun. The band and the cheerleaders served to build up spirit and unity at ball games and pep rallies. The year 1969-1970 was also a time for gathering together. Students came to club meetings, to assemblies, and to dances. They came "to laugh, . . . to dance, . . . to be born, and . . . to die . . ." For, with each day at Watauga, a new part of us was born, and another part died.



". . . a Time to Keep Silence, and a Time to Speak . . ."

Throughout the year teachers either sat quietly and listened, or spoke with authority or with understanding. Students listened appreciatively or, sometimes, resentfully; or they were grateful that nothing was said. Teachers planted the seeds from which sprouted learning and living. The students had to find "a time to pluck up" the fruits of those seeds. It was up to each person to gain as much as he could from the many opportunities available at Watauga.

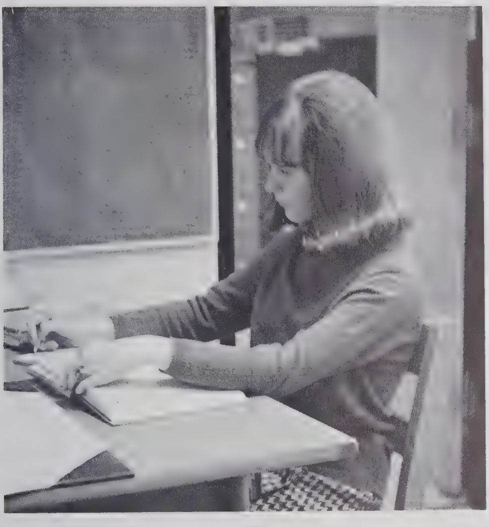
"... a Time to Rend, and a Time to Sew ..."



There were many things to remember during the year. Good sportsmanship was an integral part of Watauga as fans, athletes, and students remembered that there is " . . . a time to lose . . ." as well as a time to win. Boys and girls were constantly reminded that there is " . . . a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing . . ." In language classes and clubs, the customs and habits of other peoples were followed; and at the Hootenanny, the Pioneers remembered past mountaineers as they wore the traditional clothes and sang "hillbilly" songs.

"... a Time to Keep, and a Time to Cast Away ..."

As another year at Watauga drew to a close, teachers and students alike began to decide what to keep and what to cast away. Thrown away were old tests, worn-out textbooks, and old chewing gum wrappers. Saved were notes from friends, programs from assemblies, decorations from dances, and memories of a wonderful year. As the graduates received their diplomas, Watauga witnessed a new time ..." a time to weep, and a time to laugh, ... a time to love, ... and a time of peace."

Appalachian State University Works With Watauga

Dr. Herbert Wey, newly installed president of Appalachian State University, worked to coordinate activities between the University and Watauga High School.

The installation of a new president at Appalachian State University did not affect the relationship between that institution and Watauga High School. Appalachian provided additional faculty members and students from the University served as participators, student teachers, and graduate assistants. Many of Watauga's teachers were also on the faculty at Appalachian, and several seniors were part-time ASU students. These cooperative efforts benefited both Appalachian and Watauga.

Mr. Bill Payne, a graduate assistant from the University, uses audio-visual aids to enhance his history class.

Mr. Bud Black helps his math students understand the solving of problems. He makes things simpler for Quita Mitchell.

Richards Becomes County School Superintendent

Dr. Swanson Richards, Watauga County's new Superintendent of Public Instruction, oversees the day-to-day operation of the schools.

The Watauga County Board of Education was responsible for major decisions concerning education in the county. In 1969 a new superintendent, Dr. Swanson Richards, began working with the five men elected to the board. These men prepared a yearly calendar and a budget. They also began any necessary long-range plans concerning additions to the Watauga High School building and grounds. The Board worked with Watauga High's administrators in trying to improve secondary education in the county.

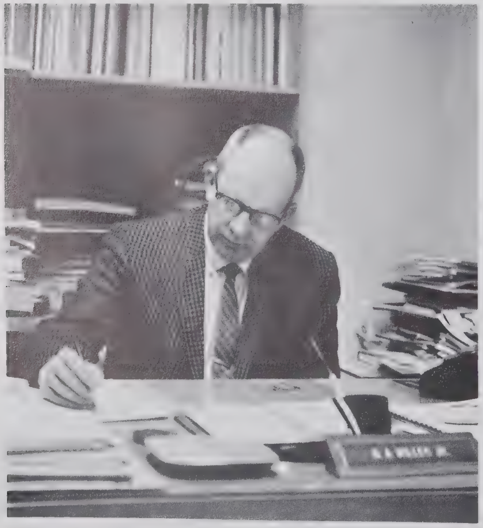
Miller and Fidler Guide School Activities

Dr. N. A. Miller and Mr. Carl Fidler were in charge of organizing all of Watauga's activities. They entertained visitors and handled disciplinary problems. Dr. Miller worked during the summer to arrange schedules and adjusted them in the first weeks of school. The safe transportation of students in both buses and cars was the responsibility of Mr. Fidler. Faculty members and students discussed their problems with the two men who had the difficult task of keeping everyone happy.

Assistant principal Carl Fidler writes out an excuse for a student desiring to leave school during the day.



Dr. N. A. Miller, principal of Watauga High School, accomplished the difficult job of maintaining school order and discipline.

Assistant principal Carl Fiddler jokes with Johnny Wright about the situation concerning school activities.

Office Staffs Compile Student Records

The high school's guidance counselors, Mrs. Grace B. Mast, Mrs. Margaret Gragg, and Mrs. Annabelle Hunter, gave helpful advice to confused students. As a result, many students benefited from their endless efforts.

The office workers helped keep the school on schedule by preparing the daily bulletins, calendars, and admit slips. Miss Wanda Farthing was in charge of these tasks. Mrs. Gladys Shelton served as the school's bookkeeper and treasurer.

The guidance office gained a new member, Mrs. Annabelle Hunter, who helped the freshmen. Mrs. Grace Mast and Mrs. Margaret Gragg worked with the other three classes in choosing high school subjects and in planning for college or work after graduation.

Mrs. Gladys Shelton, the bookkeeper for our school, carefully counts part of the money collected for the intramural championships.

Miss Wanda Farthing receives a phone call concerning one of many problems that occur at the high school daily.

Lunchroom Staff Provides Nutritious Meals Daily

The lunchroom staff of Watauga High School was responsible for providing well-balanced and inexpensive meals for over twelve hundred students. Mrs. Ressie Smith, dietician, planned the meals and supervised their preparation. An addition to the cafeteria last year was the sandwich line.

Mr. Frady, Mr. Kirby, and Mrs. Mains had the difficult job of cleaning the building and grounds of Wataugh High School. They were assisted by students during their study halls in providing a neat school.

One of the tasks of the school's custodian is keeping WHS clean, and Mr. Kirby works diligently.

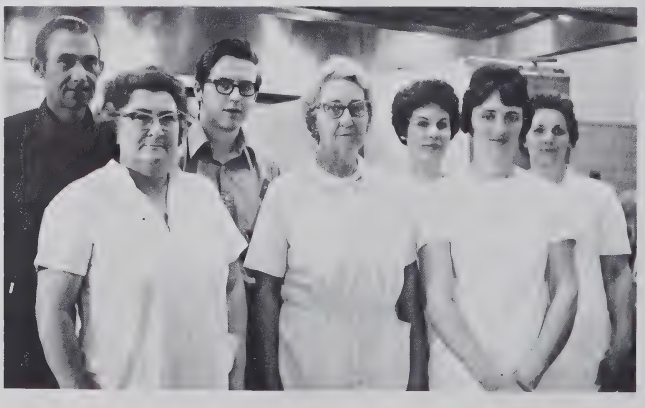
The lunchroom staff that prepared the meals for WHS consisted of First Row: Mrs. Doyce Triplett, Mrs. Wiley Smith, Mrs. Phyllis Hayes. Second Row: Willie Lang, Michael McGuire, Mrs. Wilma Miller, Mrs. Virginia Brown.



Mrs. Lera B. Randall and Mrs. Pauline Angell, the librarians of the school, operate the library which is one of the centers of high school study life.

Library Provides Quiet Place For Studying

Brenda Younce and Andrea Harmon, library assistants, check over records kept at the desk in addition to helping students find materials.

Because of the wide selection of books, magazines, and reference materials the library of WHS was invaluable to the students. The quiet, studious atmosphere made it a place where students could study without the noise often found in a study hall. Librarians as well as library assistants were on hand to help students locate the materials that they needed. Filmstrips, records, pamphlets, and other special materials were used by teachers to present ideas more effectively.

Students using the facilities of the library find it a place not only for study, but also for relaxation.

English Emphasizes Written and Oral Communication

Miss Elizabeth Elliot, Miss Brenda Gillespie, Miss Joyce Sorrells, Mrs. Anne Shope, Mrs. Betty Wells, Mrs. Joyce White, Mrs. Judy Hayes, and Mrs. Nancy Nance comprised the ninth and tenth grade English-teachers who assisted students in the difficult underclass years.

Freshman and sophomore English students studied Great Expectations, Julius Caesar, poetry, and novels. A heavy emphasis was placed on the fundamentals of grammar and original writing. Individual oral reports helped students to overcome their initial shyness and learn good techniques of oral composition. The students also studied Greek and Roman mythology, short stories, and essays. Library skills were mastered during the first two years of high school. Extensive research in the library put the skills learned to use.

Joe Miller explains to one of Mrs. Agle's English classes the process involved in stuffing and mounting an animal.

Mrs. Nance explains to one of her befuddled English classes the proper procedure for writing those dreaded term papers.

As Carol McNeely signs the cast of Mrs. Mary Elvey, one of the senior English teachers, others wait their turn.

Reading skills attained during the freshman and sophomore years lead to greater understanding of the literary works studied by the juniors and seniors. The term papers required by all junior and senior English teachers represented many hard hours of researching, compiling, worrying, and writing, with the end result of a perfect paper. Along with term papers came book reports, oral reports, class discussions, committee work and creative writing.

Mrs. Mattie Lou Wilson, Miss Delila Lesley, Mrs. Margaret Agle, Mr. Tommy Poplin, and Miss Kate Peterson, head of the department, undertake the difficult task of teaching juniors and seniors English.

Mrs. Georgia Yates and Mr. Eugene Byrd comprise Watauga High School's reading program to achieve proficiency in reading.

The math department of Watauga High School consisted of Mrs. Linda Harwood, Mrs. Mary McConnell, Mr. Bill Brown, Mr. J. C. Tester, Mr. Carl Roten, and Mr. James Moore.

Math Study Improves Accuracy and Logic

The math department strove to give an understanding of the concepts of basic math, algebra, geometry, and advanced courses. The logical reasoning learned through solving equations and proofs helped the students develop organized thought patterns. Such aids as slide rules, logarithm tables, protractors, rulers, and compasses were bought by the students because they offered additional assistance in understanding the math courses.

Mr. Joel Tester, one of the mathematics instructors, explains an algebra problem to one of his confused students.

Sciences Encourage Interest in Laws of Nature

Mr. David Williams, Mr. Glenn Reese, Mrs. Maria Reary, Mr. William Edmisten, Mrs. Patricia Blanton, Mrs. Clare Olander, and Mr. Boyden Atwood were the members of the science department.

Mrs. Clare Olander points out the proper procedure and apparatus of a chemistry experiment to her class during a lab.

The science department aimed to give the students an understanding of the basic principles, laws, and theories of science and then the practical applications of them. Problem solving and lab experiments gave students the opportunity to learn by logical reasoning of formulas and practical experience in laboratory situations. Two units of science were required for graduation, but many advanced courses were offered to the student who exhibited the ability that was necessary.

The function and process of the heart does not seem as difficult when explained in detail by Mr. William Edmisten.

Foreign Language Department Introduces New Cultures

Mrs. Judy Hayes, Mrs. Anita Eppley, Mrs. Joyce White, and Mrs. Elizabeth King (not pictured) conduct their daily classes in French, Spanish, and Latin.

Watauga's Foreign Language Department introduced students to the languages and cultures of other countries. The courses offered were French I and II, Latin I and II, and Spanish I, II, III, and IV. Graduate students from Appalachian State University worked with the French classes. The Spanish classes entertained two Chilean exchange students. Language study was assisted by audio-visual aids, authentic meals, and guest speakers.

Kay Oakes and Doug Petrey seem absorbed in a Spanish lab; Murray Hawkinson finds time to catch up on his reading about his MG.

Mrs. Elizabeth King, the Latin teacher, explains to baffled students the correct conjugation of a verb.

Social Studies Classes Prepare Informed Citizens

Mr. Dale Walser, Mr. William Ross, Mrs. Jo White, Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mr. Bill Payne, and Mr. Doughton Greene perform the difficult task of relating the past to the present for their students.

Mr. Walser emphasizes his point by using the board while lecturing his U.S. History class on the aspects of the Civil War.

Watauga High School's social studies department endeavored to relate events of importance from the past and today to the classroom. The history courses offered to the students were civics and government, world geography, United States history, world history, and contemporary affairs. Dates and events that seemed boring, came alive when discussed in films and reports. The challenges of world problems were met face to face in debates, panel discussions, and speeches.

DRIVER EDUCATION
WATAUGA COUNTY SCHOOLS

The responsibility of teaching numerous and eager sophomores to be safe and courteous drivers fell upon the driver education department comprised of Mr. Bobby McConnell and Mrs. Nancy W. Penick.

Highway Safety Is Stressed in Driver Education

Mrs. Nancy Penick and Mr. Bobby McConnell undertook the job of training students to be responsible drivers. Thirty hours of classwork, twelve hours of in-the-car observation, and six hours of behind-the-wheel practice were required of all students. Guest speakers, films, and filmstrips added variety and interest to the classes. Photographs of highway accidents emphasize the need for highway safety. Hard work and study produced informed students who applied for drivers' licenses.

Mr. Bobby McConnell laughingly reassures his group of driver education students as they begin their under-the-wheel training.

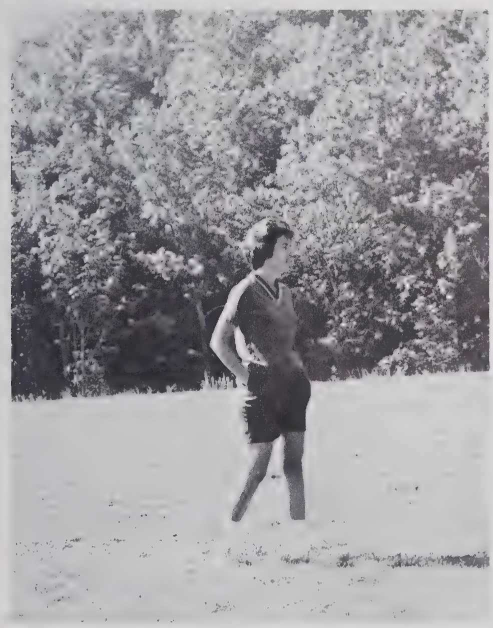
Physical Education Stresses Health and Safety

Mental and physical fitness were taught by Mrs. Carolyn Moore, Mr. Robert Poe, Mr. Bill Mauldin, Mrs. Bobbie Tester, and Mr. Carter Lentz.

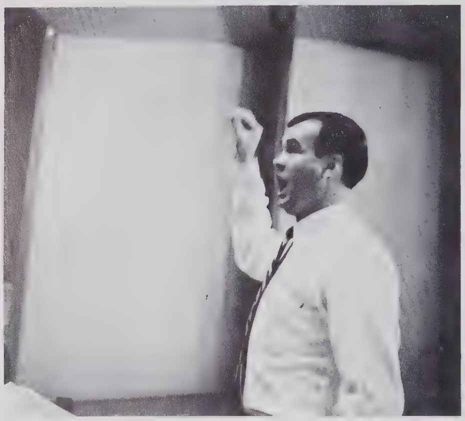
Mrs. Carolyn Moore carefully watches her physical education class as they participate in an outdoor softball game.



Physical Education classes strove not only to produce healthy bodies, but healthy minds. Freshmen learned the fundamentals of volley ball, basketball, softball, and stunts. Physical Education II and III was offered to juniors and seniors to further develop the skills they learned the year before. Students also mastered the art of jumping on the trampoline. Fridays were co-recreational days for all physical education students.

A physical education student kicks a football as other members of his class watch and patiently wait for their turns.

Talented Students Perform in Band and Chorus



Mr. Wilson sings the melody along with his choral students to aid those who are unable to sing the correct tune.

Talented musicians and choral students were instructed by the Music Department consisting of Mr. Otis Strother and Mr. Eugene Wilson.

Music, both vocal and instrumental, was a very important part of our school. The three choruses Girl's, Mixed, and Choral Ensemble worked hard on classical, religious, and popular music to present before the student body or at a choral contest. The Band carries the spirit at varsity football games with the playing of "On Watauga" and "Dixie." While looking forward to playing for graduation in the spring, they continue to practice for band contests.

Mr. Otis Strother points out the correct procedure to take in playing a difficult section of music. The Band is composed of many members playing various instruments to give it a full and varied sound.

Mr. Bill Ross, Speech and Drama teacher, and Mrs. Betty Lou Wells, art instructor, admire one of the pupil's original works of art.

The Art and Drama departments of Watauga High School endeavored to develop the student's artistic and dramatic abilities to their fullest. During the school year, the halls were filled from time to time with the art work done by the students in the art classes. Students learned perception and the correct way to blend colors. Speech and Drama offered to the student not only a chance to study drama, but also, to study phonetics.

Amy Steele and Bobby Langdon listen attentively as Mr. Bill Ross explains the fundamentals of public speaking and oratory.

Students Explore Fine Arts in Drama and Art Classes

Calvin Cole, Norman Broyhill, and other members of their art class, work diligently to create award-winning masterpieces. Some of Watauga High's accomplished students have received recognition and awards for their outstanding works of art.

Home management, child care, grooming, and etiquette were taught to Home Economics students by Mrs. Mary Graham, Mrs. Kathleen Dougherty, and Mrs. Joyce Davis.

Domestic Skills Are Taught in Home Economics

The Home Economics classes prepared girls for future homemaking. Units on sewing, cooking, nutrition, child care, grooming, management, and etiquette were offered in Home Ec. I, II, and III. Advanced work came in the third year when tailoring was introduced. A special class was offered to senior girls who had no previous experience in home economics. The skills learned in these classes prepared the girls for future lives as successful and satisfied wives, mothers, and citizens.

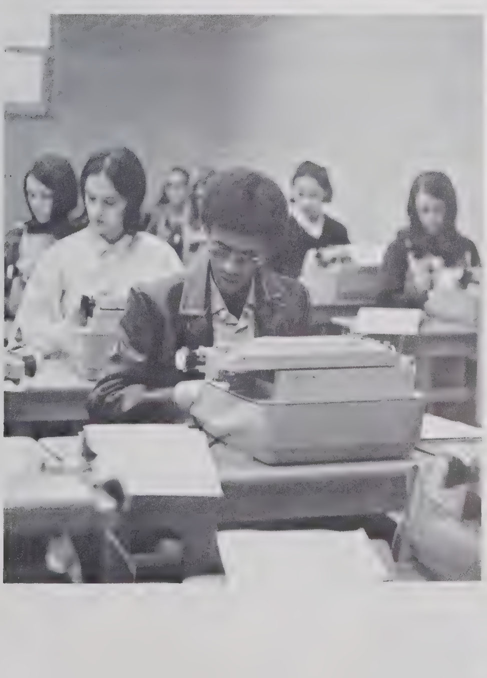
Dorothy Brown, an advanced student in Home Economics, works on another one of her many sewing projects.

Patricia Greer, Debbie Autrey, and Donna Shore, along with their fellow cooks, find their own cooking appetizing and delicious.

Business Department Offers Diversified Training

Students preparing for positions in various fields of business were taught by Mrs. Marie Hodges, Mrs. Janet Auten, Mr. Harlan Ledford, Mr. Bobby Harmon, and Miss Louise Hurd.

Tony Hagler, a member of one of the typing classes, seems deeply involved with the completion of his problems.



The business department of Watauga High School continually strove to achieve proficiency in the business courses taught. The courses taught include Typing (I and II), Shorthand, Bookkeeping, General Business, and Business English. These business courses were essential for the students who planned a career in the business world. Students enrolled in the business courses were allowed opportunities to work in the main office and the guidance office.

Mr. Harmon, an instructor in bookkeeping, assists Margaret Taylor with one of her seemingly endless problems.

Students Prepare for Employment After High School

Auto mechanics, masonry, carpentry, and agriculture are a few of the courses taught in the vocational area by Mr. Bob Davis, Mr. Robert Coffey, Mr. John Smith, and Mr. R. G. Shipley:

Occupational education enables students to work in the community without having to attend higher educational institutions upon graduation. Each of the teachers represents a different vocational program which prepares these students for meaningful roles. Carpentry and masonry taught by Mr. John Smith and Mr. Robert Coffey train future members of the building trade. Mr. Davis trains future auto mechanics and Mr. Shipley instructs students in the agriculture fields.

Lee Roy Johnson and Larry Hodges watch classmates Randy Cooper and Grady Yates tear down an engine in auto mechanics class.

Phillip Greene attempts to lay an even brick wall in masonry class, as part of his extensive training for a future job.

Mr. Darrell Ward, Mr. Jack Evans, Mr. Roger Harwood, Mr. John Moretz, and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith prepare students for careers through such courses as I.C.T., Mechanical Drawing, and C.I.

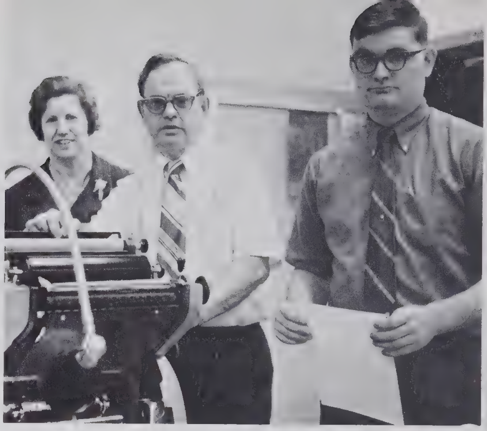
Occupational Education Classes Explore Vocations

Occupational education serves as a cooperative effort between the school and the community to give students training in some occupation. Mrs. Smith gives freshmen an Introduction to Vocations, which is followed by Distributive Education and Industrial Cooperative Training. These courses, taught by Mr. Moretz and Mr. Evans, consist of both classwork and on-the-job training. Two other courses in this program are Construction Industries, taught by Mr. Ward, and Mechanical Drawing, taught by Mr. Harwood.

In carpentry class, ripping a board takes a steady hand and concentration, as Edward Tester will verify. This is just one of the skills learned.

Three New Courses Broaden Scope of Study

Last year at Watauga High School, three new courses were added to the curriculum. These were Cosmetology, Electronics, and Graphics and Industrial Communications. The addition of these new courses necessitated the building of a new wing. The cosmetology lab produced an atmosphere of a beauty parlor. In GIC students learned the mechanics of printing in the printing shop. The electronics course offered students an introduction to the field of electronics.



Three new courses of study were introduced at Watauga High School by Miss Clyde Kilby, Mr. Joe Minor, and Mr. Robert Dickerson.

Duane Miller demonstrates the proper technique using one of the new machines in the graphic arts area.

As a member of the new cosmetology class, Janice Cheek finds that she can learn as much about hair styling using a dummy instead of a classmate.

Mr. Robert Dickerson explains a complicated electronics problem by using a model to Hoyle Davis, Keith Chipman, Brett Day, and other members of his class.

Robert Coffey, Miss Louise Hurd, Mrs. Minnie Snead, Steve Danner, J. C. Smith, Robert Davis, Doughton Greene, Mrs. Carolyn Moore, Darrell Ward, and Robert Poe taught the adults.

On Monday and Thursday nights the school was alive with the activities involved in the Adult Education classes. Men and women from all over the county participated in classes which ranged from sewing to surveying. Physical fitness classes resulted in toned up, slimmed down, and vitalized bodies. The vocational courses gave the adults an opportunity to polish up their skills and gain new ones. These classes benefited the county as well as the adults and their families.

Adults Further Their Education in Night Classes

ATHLETICS

Watauga Gridders Help Maintain Good School Spirit.

Watauga's football team began practice early in August, hoping to find replacements for the many players who had graduated after the previous season. Many injuries and illnesses contributed to the record of five wins, four losses and one tie. Two new coaches, Jack Roten and Bill Mauldin, joined the staff. The boys worked hard and maintained a high level of school spirit. Very few seniors were lost after this season, so Watauga's future looks good.

"Look, Bill! It's a bird! It's a plane!" "No, Tony, it's the basketball."

During the 1969-70 season, the junior varsity basketball team showed that Watauga has a promising future in the Northwest Conference. Coached by Mr. Bill Payne, the Jayvees posted a season record of eleven wins and nine losses. They opened the season with four consecutive wins before falling to Lenoir. The group of freshmen and sophomores worked well together and gained invaluable training and experience for future years on the varsity team.

Girls Experience Best Season in History

Watauga's girls' varsity basketball team experienced their best season ever. Coach Bud Black led the girls to a record of twelve wins and six losses. For the second time in Watauga's five-year history the girls' team played in the conference tournament, losing their first game to Morganton High School. Chosen as team captains were Kay Oakes and Shirley Ray. Bonnie Braswell managed the team, and Joanna Sherrill was their official scorekeeper. At the close of the season, Kay Oakes was named to the All-Conference Team.

Coach Bill Brown and his assistant, Mr. Bob Dickerson, contributed greatly to this successful season. Also necessary for success were the hard work and the knowledge exhibited by Watauga's matmen. Only two of the starting thirteen wrestlers were seniors so next year's team should show more experience and skill.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

An interest in Journalism sparked the members of The Powderhorn staff to search out new articles for the newspaper they put out seven times during last year's school year. The paper had articles concerning sports, beauty courts, special honors given to students, news from Appalachian State University, and special features. Under the leadership of Miss Deliah Lesley, the staff produced interesting papers which gave Watauga High students something to look forward to.

Nellie Moretz and Ron Perry discuss the coming sports events needed for the graduation issue of the Powderhorn.

STUDENT LIFE

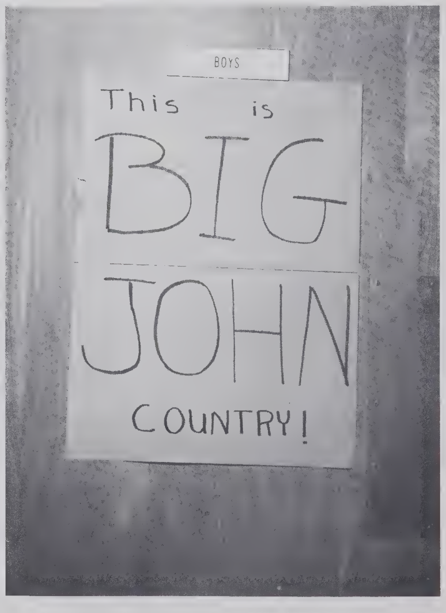
Education Includes Activities Outside of Class

Student life at Watauga High School ranged from cheering at a rainy football game to attending the serious graduation exercises. Having fun while also gaining knowledge was the hope for all student affairs. Everyday life at the school became invaluable since it helped students to meet and get to know other people. During lunchtime, between classes, at breaks, during club meetings, and at annual signings, students found time to socialize, something that means a lot to them.

Richard White seems to enjoy himself as he signs a 1969 volume of the Musket at the annual distribution of the yearbook.

Being a member of the band takes hard work, concentration, and lots of practice as many of the people with "two left-feet" discover.

"This is Big John country" was a slogan at Watauga this year used to urge the Pioneers on in difficult activities.



Stillness hangs over Room 101 as it awaits the return of students to take one of the dreaded aptitude and scholastic tests administered there. After the exams, the stillness and silence is even more appalling.

Bobby Higgins and Bill Smitherman suffer the consequences for being class "cut-ups", punished by Mr. Davis, a student teacher.

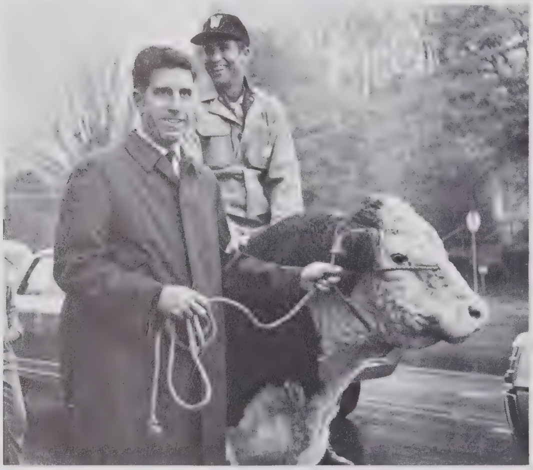
Carmen Luz Guazzini and Veronica Cappi, two exchange students from Chile, find that boys are the same around the world.

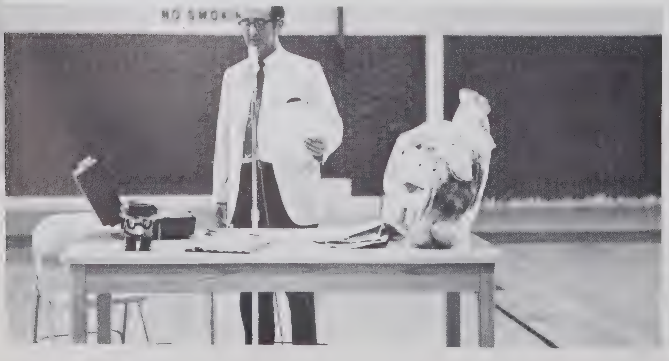
Magazine Sale Goal of $10,000 is Topped

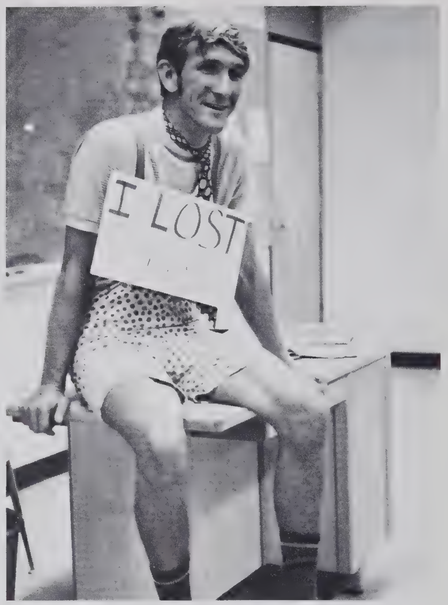
For the first time in Watauga High's history, the school reached its magazine sale goal of $10,000.00. Randy Marsh led the school with a total of $471.38. The eager freshman class as usual, sold the greatest amount of magazine subscriptions. The Student Council bases its magazine sale budget on causes that benefit the majority of students. Such organizations as the Musket Staff, the music department, and the Junior Class for the prom, received these grants.



Coach Lentz, led by his faithful companion "Tonto Fidler", rides his colorful steed down main street as a stunt for the sale.

Mr. Kerr, representative of the magazine company, instructs the students in the art of salesmanship and exhibits the prizes to be won.





Coach Brown, loser of a magazine sale challenge, admits defeat by wearing his outfit picked by victorious Mr. Ross.

Mrs. Elvey waters her pet lion captured by her homeroom students for being high salesmen during the contest.

Pep Rallies and Assemblies Provide Spirit and Fun

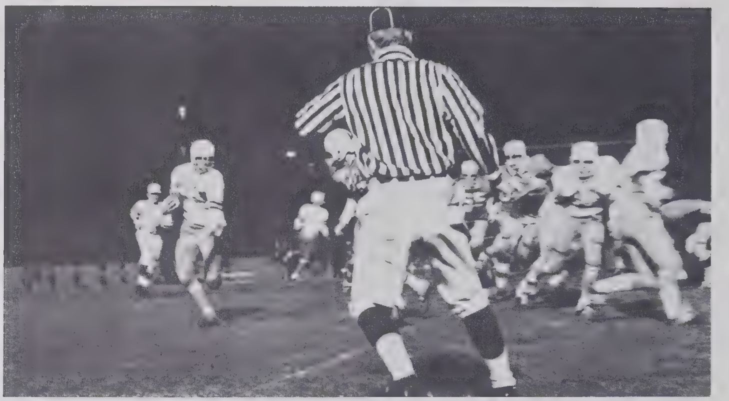
Bobby Langdon and Mike Triplett, two "would-be cheerleaders" from the Junior class, led yells during one of the pep rallies.

The ever popular pep rallies were a great boost to school spirit and to the morale of the football and basketball players. The band playing familiar songs and the cheerleaders doing their best to encourage the team made each pep rally an event to remember. The assemblies, planned by the Student Council, were another source of enjoyment for the students. Assemblies ranged from a visit of inmates from the State Prison System to a program on April 22 for Earth Day.

Four inmates of Raleigh Central Prison provided the entertainment for one of the student body's numerous assemblies.

During the Thanksgiving assembly a group of talented students, accompanied on guitars by Susan Mast and Diane Greer, entertained the student body by singing several Thanksgiving and seasonal songs.

Bonfire Kicks Off Homecoming Activities



Despite a valiant effort, the Watauga High Pioneers suffered a heart-breaking loss at the hands of the rough and determined Rippers of Marion High for the 1969 Homecoming Game.

The 1969 Homecoming at Watauga High was a huge success despite the Pioneers' loss to the Marion Rippers. The Homecoming Court headed by Queen Luci Welborn was presented during the halftime of the game. The band gave an excellent performance while the queen was crowned.

The Homecoming Dance was attended by numerous alumni, students, and faculty. The student lobby was gaily decorated and music for the event was provided by a rock group, The Young Company.

Pioneer Bill Smitherman with the assistance of the cheerleaders urges the team to victory for the nearing Homecoming game.

President Jack Henson places the crown upon the head of Lucille Welborn officially making her the 1969 WHS Homecoming Queen.

Sharon Blair, a member of the Homecoming Court, takes time out to decorate the student lobby for the dance.

Returning Alumni Join Students At Dance

Sonny Cook, the escort of Melinda Winkler, was one of the many alumni that returned to the high school to attend the Homecoming festivities, among them the fourth annual Homecoming Dance.

Santa Claus brought in an early Yuletide Season at Watauga High with his appearance at the annual Christmas Dance. Both seniors and their class sponsors worked many long and tiring hours in preparation for the dance. Decorations consisting of snowflakes, pine branches, and the gaily lighted Christmas tree, helped to produce a colorful and relaxed atmosphere. The entertainment was provided by a popular local band, The Evolution. Their music augmented the already festive spirit.

An important and beautiful part of the decorations for the annual Christmas Dance is the ever familiar Christmas tree.

Santa Makes Early Appearance at Christmas Dance

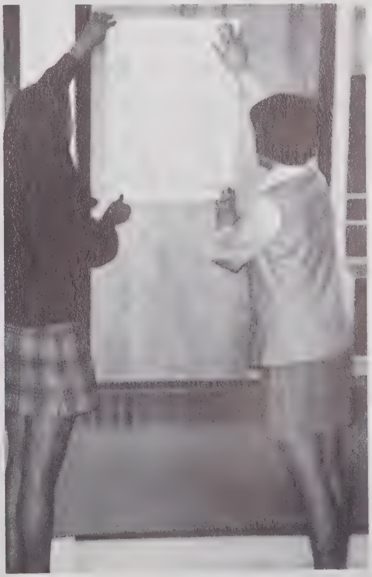
Sweetheart Dance Ends Six-Day School Week

The Sweetheart Dance provided the Freshman class an opportunity to support a major school dance and raise money. White cupids and hearts against a red background were used as decorations. The outstanding feature was a large red cupid and a heart located at the far end of the lobby. Snow threatened, but did not appear. The band was entertaining and the refreshments were enjoyed. These factors combined to help make the perfect ending to one of our many six-day weeks.

Kathy Aldridge smiles as she and her court Quita Mitchell, Lynda Critcher, Terri Greene, and Jennifer Smith are presented roses.

Teresa Stamey and Kris Robinson help promote the Sweetheart Dance sponsored by the Freshman Class.



Mischievous Cupid, a symbol of Valentine's, always appears at Sweetheart Dances with his trusty bow and arrow ready to promote love among couples.

SWEETHEARTS

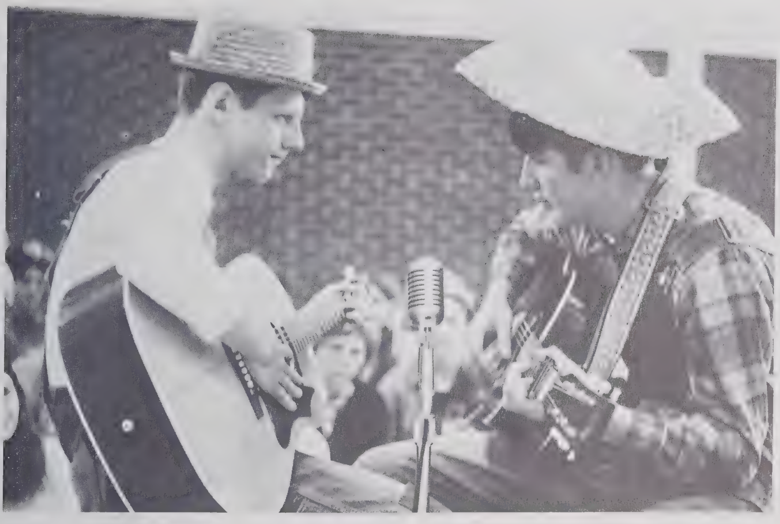
Watauga High students celebrated one of their favorite holidays, Sadie Hawkins Day, attired in their "best" hillbilly clothes. A hootenanny sponsored by the Student Council began the festive day, and a square dance was held in the student lobby during the two lunch periods. The Sadie Hawkins Dance, sponsored by the Sophomore Class, was held Saturday night in the decorated student lobby. Music was provided by "Cap", and "Daisy Mae" and "Li'l Abner" were chosen.

Mrs. Harwood, Mrs. Yates, and Mrs. Smith, three of our more fashionable teachers display the latest in spring styles.

Watauga Turns Hillbilly For Sadie Hawkins Day

No Sadie Hawkins Dance is complete without "Li'l Abner", Butch Triplett, and "Daisy Mae", Wanda Norris.

Some of the Senior boys congregate at the lockers as they practice their favorite pastime: watching the Daisy Maes go by.



Mickey Greene and his guitar partner entertain the student body during the Hootenanny assembly with a rendition of a "Chet Atkins style" melody. The boys, students at Watauga, volunteered their services for the program.

"Marryin' Sam", in real life known as Alfred Pritchett, takes time out from his blissful ceremonies to spread some peace.

Two of the more elegantly dressed students of Watauga High are Undertaker Bobby Denton and Plowboy Ralph Shores.

Gene Reese is his usual self, sleepwalking down the halls, as other students busily clean up the school and grounds. A special effort was made to have the building clean for the District Student Council conference.

Clean-Up Day Enhanced by Approaching Earth Day

Four senior boys combine muscle power to move a heavy bookcase, one of the more strenuous tasks performed on clean-up day.

Clean-up Day has become a tradition at Watauga, and this past year a special meaning was added by the approaching Earth Day. Students had become more aware of the problems of contamination and worked with extra determination to make this school as clean and free from pollution as possible. As well as cleaning the classrooms, students were assigned to areas such as smoking areas, student lobby, parking lot, gym, guidance office, and the main office.

Upperclassmen Win First Powderpuff Football Game

Rachel Oakes attempts a triple reverse play to find herself trapped by two of the more aggressive underclassmen.

Tanya Shook, quarterback of the Junior-Senior team, plans offensive strategy against the underclassmen.

This spring the Powderpuff football program gave the girls of the school a taste of the grueling football practicing sessions that the boys had had to suffer through, as well as providing entertainment for the whole student body. Despite the fact that the Sophomores and Freshmen fought hard, the Juniors and Seniors were victorious. This game was sponsored by the Girls' Monogram Club and was enjoyed equally by the teams, student body, and faculty.

With blood in their eyes and their teeth bared, the two teams prepare to clash as they line up. Meanwhile, as the quarterback shouts instructions, befuddled Shirley Ray tries to find her place on the ferocious line.

Mr. Ledford, Student Council advisor, supervises Tanya Shook in the counting of ballots as Jack Henson awaits the returns.

Elections Stimulate Spirited Campaigns

Posters, slogans, and gags filled the halls and the student lobby of Watauga High School once again to urge students and faculty members to vote for their student body officers. A group of eighteen capable candidates were nominated, and these officers were elected: Bob Denton, President; Buzz Hagaman, Vice-President; Donna Wilson, Secretary; and Anne Fulmer, Treasurer. For the first time a question and answer period was held to acquaint the voters with the candidates.

James Hodges and Warren Moretz, co-chairmen of the Student Council elections committee supervise the distribution of ballots to underclassmen. It was a strenuous task preceded by registering two-thirds of the Student Body.

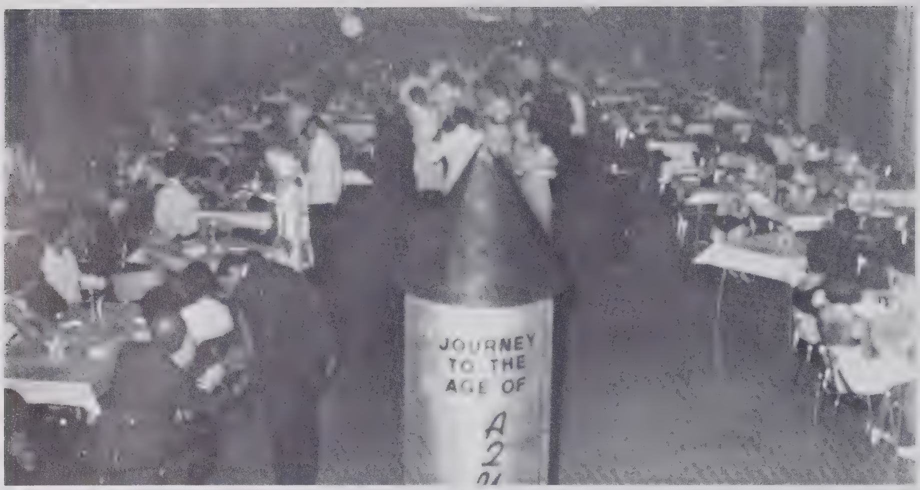
Lunch Provides Break from Regular Classes

While some students refresh themselves with lunch, others find the lunchroom a conducive place for discussion of their latest tests, outcome of the athletic game, and of course the newest gossip.

Ralph Shore, one of the more husky senior boys, seems to enjoy lunch, or else he suffers from acute starvation.

Students were given an opportunity to converse, study, and play records during their lunch period. Ping-pong tables were set up in the student lobby, and these activities kept the students preoccupied. Popular music echoing throughout the lobby created a relaxed and congenial atmosphere after a morning of difficult classes. In addition to the lunch and sandwich lines students were able to purchase ice cream. Seniors enjoyed looking down on underclassmen from their elevated section in the lunchroom.

The sandwich line provided the students with a more varied choice of foods as well as lesser amounts for interested dieters.



A realistic mood was set by the rocket situated at the entrance way to the floor of the Prom. All present thought it possible to "Journey to the Age of Aquarius" simply by stepping aboard the ship.

Juniors Entertain Seniors With Tour of Zodiac

The Junior-Senior Prom, the biggest dance of the year, was held on May 2, with the "Tour of the Zodiac" as the theme. The mood was set by a huge suspended mirror ball which reflected starlike patterns all over the lobby. Guests of the Junior class danced to the music of the Turks. After the dance many people went to a party held at Appalachian Ski Lodge. This affair was sponsored by the Boone Parks and Recreation Committee and may become an annual event.

The special arrangement of "Aquarius" by The Turks, a band from North Wilkesboro, set the mood for later dancing at the Prom.

Refreshment time provided an excellent opportunity for visiting between tables. Phil Ginn and his date Daphne Martin comment on the dance to Tanya Shook, Perry Fidler, Jack Henson and Kim Carpenter.

Randy Cooper is more bedazzled with his date Glenda Andrews than with the brillant rotating ball of mirrors.

At the party following the Prom, entertainment was provided by students, such as Jack Henson, doing impersonations of members of WHS faculty.

Mod "Antigone" Presented by Senior Class

The opening scene of the play presented all characters on stage with the chorus introducing each as he comments on their fate.

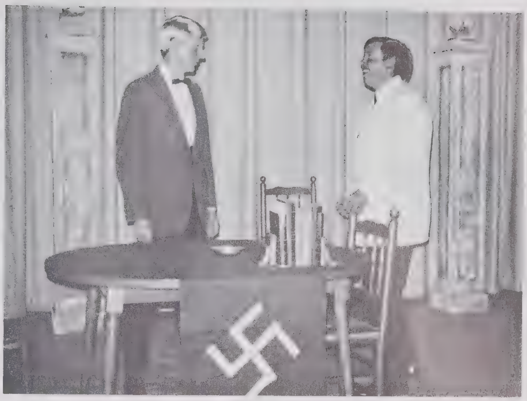
"Antigone", a play by Jean Anouilh that was adapted by Lewis Galantier was chosen to be performed as this year's Senior Play. "The story is universal occurring at anytime in any country where a dictator sets himself above both religion and the people." The classes were given an opportunity to attend the play and the money collected was donated to the school. An excellent job of directing was done by Mr. William Ross, who helped the ten members achieve perfection in their roles.

Antigone's elderly nurse worriedly frets over her charge as sister Ismene watches with suspicion and concern of her own.

Creon, clasping Antigone's wrist, displays uncontrollable anger and reveals his true tyrannical nature as a power hungry king.

The police guards of Creon physically restrain Antigone, who has just been dragged from the body of Polynices, her doomed brother.

Sandie Drury helps Kristine Newman with her make-up while Eric Farthing "grows" a mustache and James Hodges watches.



The first guard in his adept yet bumbling manner tells Creon the dreadful news of Polynices' burial by an unknown person.

Backstage, James Hodges protects himself from the remainder of Creon's fierce police force by a tuxedo suspender slingshot.

Practice is essential in preparation for the big night of graduation. Learning the ins and outs, the ups and downs of the rows and robes is trying but necessary. Of course, walking in time to the the music is difficult when unaccustomed to it.

Varied Emotions Conclude Twelve Years

One of the most intensely emotional events of school life is graduation. After twelve years of grueling works seniors are sad, but elated. All the thrills, excitements, and disappointments are climaxed with a handshake and the reception of the diploma. For every member of the Senior Class graduation is the end and the beginning – the end of an accustomed way of life, and the beginning of new, more meaningful relationships.

Stage dignitaries, graduation speakers, and Dr. Miller watch the solemn procession of seniors as the 1970 graduation exercises begin.

The speakers for the Baccalaureate service, the Rev. Richard Holshouser – invocation, the Rev. Robert Young – sermon, and the Rev. Arlie Moretz – benediction, prepare to deliver a message to the 1970 graduating class.

Dee Wilson leads the senior class and the audience in a familiar and routine part of graduation, the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Carol McNeely, an honor graduate, receives her diploma joyfully from Dr. Miller.

Senior boys heave a sigh of relief realizing they finally made it, as each one hurries back to his homeroom for removal of the stifling cap and gown.

Carolyn Main and Catherine Miller display contrasting emotions as they remove the hard earned robe.

At one of the S.H.H. meetings the program was presented by Carmen Luz Guazzini and Veronica Ceppi, students from Chile.

Students who had shown an interest and proficiency in the Spanish language and culture were eligible for membership in the Spanish Honor Society. A student who maintained a B average for three semesters of Spanish was considered for an invitation to join. New members were inducted in a candlelight ceremony which was followed by dinner at the Peddler Steak House. The S.H.H. members instigated an observance of Pan America Day by Watauga's Spanish students.

Building for your future

The Watauga Savings and Loan Association has had a part in the growth of this area since 1921. We have noted with pride the construction and development of Watauga High School.

Quality education is much more important than it was a few years ago. The administration and faculty along with the students have proven in one year that Watauga is the type of educational institution which is needed in this changing world of today.

The people of Watauga Savings and Loan Association also feel very strongly about quality. We require quality in all the homes we finance. We offer the best rates available on your savings. Put these together and you have a sound financial institution.

EDITORS' LAST WORD

The past year has been a time of decisions, of changes, and of hard work. Our thanks go to the staff for the work they have done and to each of you for your contributions to this year's Musket. We are particularly grateful to our adviser for his work, his patience, his worry, and his guidance. Our task – that of satisfying almost a thousand students – was a difficult one, and fulfilling it led to many disappointments and errors. The work was also fun, however; and we were able to laugh at our many mistakes.

We have chosen not to dedicate the 1970 Musket to anyone in particular, and by so doing we hope to have a Musket which is dedicated to everyone's memory of a year at Watauga High School. This year has been filled with happiness and heartbreak, with learning and boredom, with ecstasy and sadness, with friendship and enmity. There have been dances, assemblies, ball games, classes, lectures, and club meetings. Watauga and its students have experienced victories and defeats, joys and sorrows, pains and pleasures. We have tried to cover all these things and to produce a book which will invoke memories of the entire year. Each of you, our readers, must now decide whether we have succeeded.

– Beth and Helen
